Secret Garden

At Wellington station

The Friends of Wellington Station group secured a CCIF grant to develop a Secret Garden at the side of Platform 3 and the space is now a welcome haven for wildlife as well as providing a 'green sanctuary' for visitors and passengers.

The Secret Garden includes bee and bird-friendly wildflowers and plants, a bug hotel and butterfly feeding station, as well as seats and information about walking routes around Wellington.

The garden was financed as part of a project called Wellington Ways, which has also seen new signage to promote walking and cycling routes from the station around the town and local area.

Wolverhampton Business Improvement District Company are pleased to have 'adopted' Wolverhampton Train Station and are excited to play a part in bringing a sense of pride, recognition of its locality and city centre destination and injecting some colour and vibrancy into our new iconic station building.

The walls of the brand-new station waiting room and customer lounge provide a blank canvas waiting for the right artist to present a warm welcome to all visitors to the train station and inject an inviting sense of what Wolverhampton has to offer.

Station Adoption

Students benefit

The development of an Educational Qualification (City & Guilds Level One) will benefit students at Woodrush High School and launches this term.

The work to create this unique programme has been undertaken over the past two years by the Head of Humanities at the school, Friends of the Shakespeare Line and the Station Manager who supported the development of the students and their involvement in the community works at Wythall station.

We are working with the school and volunteers to progress this 'national first' that will be shared with other schools across the UK.

Girl Guides

Sensory garden in Stone

A new sensory garden supporting mental health, wellbeing and education has been set up by 600 girl guides in Staffordshire thanks to funding from London Northwestern Railway.

Designed during Girlguiding Staffordshire's International Camp, Unity 2022, the wellbeing and sensory garden can be used as relaxation zone at Kibblestone Campsite, near Stone.

The garden is a haven for people to learn the benefits of and how to look after herbs and plants that thrive in the UK.

Hundreds of girls across Staffordshire and the UK aged over 10 took part at the camp earlier this month.

The initiative was made possible thanks to a grant from London Northwestern Railway's "Your Community, Your Fund" scheme. The funding is provided by the Department for Transport (DfT) and allocated by LNR and sister company West Midlands Railway to projects across the network.

The Kibblestone project is designed to develop new community connections and programmes, have a positive impact at stations and contribute to the recovery of passenger numbers on the railways.
